

County of San Diego Proclamation Design CALL FOR ENTRIES

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors is well known throughout the region for its official recognition of citizens, organizations, events, celebrations and solemn occasions through its issuance of ceremonial proclamations.

County of San Diego proclamations have become easily recognizable and are proudly displayed by many County residents and organizations.

The proclamations in use today were designed and hand drawn by a local artist. The Board of Supervisors has used the same proclamation design since the mid-1980's. Involvement of San Diego's art community is essential in the creation of a new proclamation design as we begin the new century. Only by giving local artists the opportunity to pictorially communicate their vision of San Diego County, can we best express the pride and passion for our region that we, as San Diego County residents, share. For this reason, the Board of Supervisors is issuing a Call for Entries to qualified San Diego County residents in order to generate design ideas for a new County Proclamation celebrating the spirit of San Diego.

---

Entry Packets which include Rules and Eligibility for Entry may be obtained at the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, Department of Media and Public Relations (DMPR), Room 208, San Diego CA 92101 or may be downloaded from the County web site:

www.co.san-diego.ca.us/dmpr (click on "Proclamation").

For further information you may also call DMPR at 619.595.4633

Deadline for Entering is June 15, 2001